OFFICIAL PAPER OF CITY AND CO.

Is the Signal opposed to water works?

THE Signal bordered on being anti water works last week.

SENATOR BRICE is standing nobly by President Cleveland. This cannot be said of all Democratic Senators, to their discredit.

THE great tariff debate in the house will close to-day, when a vote will be taken. The bill will pass by a good majority.

The legislature has enacted a law authorizing County Commissioners, instead of Common Pleas Judges, to fix the compensation of physicians for holding post mortem examinations.

THE Democratic congress has appropriated nearly $162,000,000 for pensions for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1895. That don't look much as though the Democrats were going to cut off the old soldier's pensions.

WHAT has occasioned the Signal to desert the ranks of the advocates of waterworks for the ranks of the enemy. Can it be that it has received a part of the swag raised by Andy Sayers? It looks a little suspicious.

THE American champion, Corbet, got the best of the Britisher, Mitchell, in their fight to a finish at Jacksonville, Florida, last Thursday. The contest lasted but nine minutes, at the end of which time Mitchell was knocked completely out. This victory leaves Corbet champion of the world. His next fight will be with Peter Jackson.

THE Ohio legislature has declared itself against biennial sessions. Now the people wish to know why the Republicans are not making good their promises to give them biennial sessions. No explanation is forth coming, but it is safe to say the next legislature will not be Republican, if the people know themselves, and they believe they do.

THE amount subscribed by A. J. Sayers to the obstruction fund to be used to delay the construction of water works would pay his proportion of the tax of building and sustaining them for at least twenty years! From the amount of bluster he is making one would suppose the entire burden of water works rested upon his shoulders. Does it?

The great value of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a remedy for catarrh is vouchsafed for by thousands of people whom it has cured.

The Signal strains a point outrageously when it asserts that the business men of Napoleon almost unanimously opposed water works. The NORTHWEST some time ago gave the views of the business men upon the waterworks question, and while the sentiment was divided, a majority favored water works. If they have since changed and express themselves as the Signal reports, then they are doing themselves and the town a great injury. The people have spoken at several elections in favor of the improvement, and in accordance with this sentiment the city council proceeded in the matter until the bonds were sold and the contract let for the building of the plant. The bonds were sold at par, and the contract let at a price which was far below the expectations of all and the estimate of the engineer.

These being facts, then, how foolish it is at this late day to reopen the question and place obstructions in the way of carrying out the will of the people, and the plans perfected by their servants. A majority should always rule, whether large or small, and in this case the will expressed was more than two-to-one.

Instead of trying to obstruct and block the way for the successful building of the water works and electric light plant, those parties who are now laboring so assiduously to this end, should come forward and lend their aid and influence to the board of trustees and help make the building of the works a success.

Come, gentlemen, put your shoulder to the wheel of progress, and instead of holding back help push it forward, and the citizens of Napoleon will never regret the day when they expressed a preference for a water works and electric light plant.

We take the following from the Secretary of State's statistics on the recent election, showing the gain and loss in each precinct of the county, as compared with the vote of 1892:

PRECINCTS—	Dem.	Rep.	Unk.	Loss

This table will be of interest to all, as it shows the entire change to be 726 as the Cleveland carried the county by 1331 and Neal by 605.

SECRETARY CARLISLE announces that the new 5 per cent. bonds will be issued in denominations of $50, $100, and $1,000 for coupon bonds, and $50, $100, $1,000 and $10,000 for registered bonds. The bonds may be paid for in gold certificates or in gold coin, after notification that the offer of the subscriber has been accepted, at either of the Government Sub-Treasuries in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, New Orleans or San Francisco. No bid for a price less than $117.223 will be considered—that rate of premium making the bond realize 3 per cent. to the investor. It is not improbable that a large proportion of the bonds will be placed at a premium which will make the interest as low as 2 1/2 per cent. The quibbling as to the authority of the Secretary to sell bonds has not in the least affected the demand for them.

Gov. JACKSON, the new McKinley Governor of Iowa, advocates "the consumption of American products by Americans." That is all right if he can stretch the stomachs of Iowa Republicans until they can consume all the surplus corn in the Iowa home market.—N. Y. World.

Vick's Floral Guide, 1894.

It contains descriptions that describe, not mislead; illustrations that instruct, not exaggerate. This year it comes to us in a suit of gold. Printed in eight different colors besides black. Colored plates of Chrysanthemums, Poppies and Vegetables. On the front cover is a very exquisite bunch of Vick's New White Branching Aster and on the back is the New double Anemone; 112 pages filled with many new novelties of value as well as all the old leading varieties of flowers and vegetables.

We advise our friends who intend doing anything in the garden this year to consult Vick before starting operations. Send 10 cents to James Vick's Sons, Rochester, N. Y., for Vick's Guide, it costs nothing, as you can deduct the 10 cents from first order. It certainly will pay you.

Too Late.

Perhaps Tennyson has written nothing which appeals to the hearts of all who read his poems more than the lyric of "Too Late." The burden of the sad refrain comes home with telling force to the hearts of those who have lost friends by that dread disease—consumption. They realize, "too late," the result of neglect. They feel that the dear one might have been saved if they had heeded the warning of the hacking cough, the pallid cheek, and weakening system. They feel this all the more keenly because they see others being rescued from the grasp of the destroyer, and they think what is saving others might have saved their loved one. When the first signal of danger is seen, take steps to avert the catastrophe. Be wise in time. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will drive away consumption. Do not wait until too late before putting its wonderful efficacy to the test. It succeeds where other remedies fail.

Barrett E. Ball, of Waynesville, Ind., says: "I owe my life to the Great South American Remedy. I had been in bed for five months from the effects of an extensive attack of rheumatism, nervous prostration and a general shattered condition of my whole system. Had given up all hopes of getting well. But tried three bottles of this medicine and the first bottle of the Nervine Tonic improved me so much that I was able to walk about, and a few bottles cured me entirely. I believe it is the best medicine in the world. I cannot recommend it too highly." Sold by D. J. Humphrey, Napoleon, O., Aug. 19, 1893.

SWEET REST AT LAST.

The Soul of Col. L. J. Hissong Wings Its Flight.

After a Persistent but Fruitless Struggle With the Grim Destroyer.

At 1:35 this morning death came quietly and peacefully to relieve the suffering of a fellow townsman. It was at that hour that the spirit of death hovered over the weak and emaciated form of Col. L. J. Hissong and the weary soul freed from its tenement of clay, winged its flight to Him who gave it.

The dread summons was anticipated and the immediate members of his family and a few warm friends were present when the end came. For a couple of days he had been in a comatose condition and he did not recover consciousness ere the final dissolution came.

Death resulted from exhaustion due to the ravages of the disease that compelled him to retire from the active pursuits of life something like two months ago. The primary cause of his demise was ulceration of the stomach. By means of a powerful vitality and iron will he combated the progress of the disease, and he was loth to give up life, but without avail as the dread sequel goes to show.

The loss to the city by the death of one of its leading and most progressive business men is incalculable. He was well and widely known and a man whose active desire to build up his adopted city was secondary only to his private interests. He wrought upon the broad plane that the prosperity of the community enhanced his prosperity, and while it added to his material interests it also aided others in the same manner.

From a business history of Seneca county we learn that Col. Hissong came to Fostoria in 1875 and embarked in the dry goods business in the room now occupied by Fichters Bros. The grocers, and continued there until March 1st, 1891, when he removed to the present large rooms. He was also joint owner of a dry goods store at Ottawa, the county seat of Putnam county and had other landed and personal interests that combined to make him one of the wealthiest business men of the city. His success as a merchant is so well known to our readers and the public generally that it would be superfluous to speak of it at this time.

The funeral of Col. Hissong will be held from his late residence on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock and will be conducted by Rev. Hunter Davidson, assisted by other ministers. One remains will lie in state in the front parlor at his late home for the inspection of friends from 10 until 1 o'clock Friday.

New Way to Win a Girl.

MOCALAGUA, Pa., Jan. 25.—Richard Tucker, a clerk, and Miss Mary Bowman, formerly a school teacher, lovers, quarreled. Tucker left the house in a rage. When he got out he fired two shots from a revolver into the air and then lay down on the ground, feigning that he was dying. His sweetheart rushed out of the house, and with assistance, carried her lover into the house. He appeared to be dying, and the girl asked his forgiveness. Tucker asked her if she would marry him if he could get better. She promised she would. Tucker then jumped up and said he was all right. The girl will stick to her promise, and they will be married on Tuesday next.

Precious Metals in Ohio.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 30.—Gold, silver and lead have been discovered in Spruce Hill, near Bonnaville, Ross county, by A. W. Stretcher of Xenia, who became wealthy by similar discoveries in California 40 years ago. Springfield capitalists are associated with him. They have been prospecting over six months, and have been digging in two wells. W. F. Mitchell and Miss Sallie Mitchell own the hill in which they have found the valuable metals.

Telephone Departure.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 30.—Electricians are putting telephones in each room in the Grand hotel. Cables are being extended over all of the house and guests can telephone from their rooms to any part of the city without first communicating with the office. It is a radical and none the less expensive departure in hotel service. The cost will be $2,000 a year.

Prison Chaplain Suspended.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 30.—Chaplain Dudley of the state prison has been suspended on account of the manner in which he handled money belonging to prisoners and in his care. Rev. Dudley's home is in Clermont county. He denies that he has willfully misappropriated any money, and says he will yet show the world that he is honest.

OUR COLUMBUS LETTER.

Over 300 Bills Introduced in the Legislature.

MANY WILL NEVER BE HEARD OF.

The Senate Decides Shunks Are Able to Protect Themselves—Two Bills to Regulate the Practice of Medicine—House and Senate Can't Agree on Quail.

Standard Time—Half Holidays on Saturdays.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 30.

Over 300 bills have been introduced in both branches of the present general assembly. Of these about half have either been passed or will never be again heard of in the business of the legislature. Thus about 150 bills are before the two houses for actual consideration. This is not a great number, all things considered, yet many of them are most trivial in character.

The house passed the skunk bill, but the senate knocked it out, so that the present body will not be called the skunk legislature, whatever other title will be eventually forced upon it. One senator, Mr. Ide of Licking county, said that one pair of skunks would produce 10,000,000 of their kind within their own life time, and he argued that the animal did not need any protection from the strong arm of the law, for he was entirely able to fight his own battles. There are places in Ohio where the skunk is raised for the fur, and it is said to be a most lucrative business. The fur is used in the manufacture of women's apparel, and this animal furnishes the only contribution of Ohio to the fur trade.

Other trivial matters have been brought up, such as the hunting of rabbits with ferrets, the passing of a law to punish the shooting with air or powder guns upon streets, a subject properly coming within the scope of an ordinance of a city or village. This bill is now in the senate, and may never again see the light of day. But the Seventy-first general assembly is no worse and perhaps no better in this particular than the average of its predecessors. The hopper's first great job generally made up of unimportant propositions, followed by their twin brother, the dishonest measures. And all the time members drop in meritorious bills that find a harder life of it than do many of the useless and dangerous bills.

The newspapers of the state are at present very much wrought up over two senate bills.

To Regulate the Practice of Medicine.

Both are in the hands of the committee, and it is doubtful if they ever get a chance to see the light of day, but if they do their life will be filled with the usual brickbats of argument, and death is their early fate. It is said that a third medical bill is to be introduced in the house, but it has not yet shown its head. There is usually not over one bill introduced each winter, but we now have two, with a third one coming. This fact alone shows that the doctors of the state are very much divided among themselves about what sort of legislation they desire, so that the lay brethren have no difficulty in placing the blame of no action upon the medical people themselves. Doctors never agree anyhow, and it is therefore not strange that they fall out on the question of law.

The Two-Mile Pike Assessment Law will be made according to the benefits derived, in much the same way that improvement assessments are levied in the cities. If this is done land two miles from the pike road will not have to pay as much of an assessment as will land within 300 feet. It is argued that the nearer the land to a pike road the more it is raised in value and therefore the more its owner ought to pay in proportion to that which the owner of land further back in the country pays.

Quail.

The house and senate have each had a round of quail. The senate first passed a bill prohibiting the killing of quail next year and each alternative year thereafter. This was done on the plea of protection to the quail. The house refused to pass this bill, though it came within three votes of doing it. The vote was reconsidered, and there is still a chance of the bill going through the house and becoming a law. On the other hand the house passed a bill prohibiting the selling or offering for sale of quail at any time during the year and prohibiting the possession of quail during the closed season. It was thought that this was the most practical way to deal with the quail question. It takes away the markets from the pot hunters and the market hunters at all times during the year and punishes any guilt of being in possession of the bird during the closed season. Those who know about quail—and there are many in this general assembly who claim to know all about this game bird—say that hard winters do more to destroy quail than do all the sportsmen put together. It is not the sportsman, they say, who does the harm; it is the pot hunter, the market hunter and the man who claims to know all about this game bird—shoots off at one fire. If these people had their market taken from them they would cease their slaughter. But if the shooting of quail is prohibited for a year nature will kill off the birds that the pot hunter fails to kill on the sly. The debates over the quail question have been the enlivening thing thus far for this session.

A Bill For Cleveland.

The bill introduced by Senator Avery of Cleveland and already passed by the upper house by a unanimous vote to allow his city to build and conduct a reform farm school, though local, is a measure of widespread interest because of its novelty. The school when in operation will have the same object as have all other like institutions, but there is to be a radical difference in at least one particular. The record upon admission of a youth to the school is to be simply that John Doe was found to be a suitable person to be admitted to the school. Thus in after years it will be impossible for some cunning to look up the records and find that John was sent to the reform school because he stole a ham or picked a pocket. It may be that John has been sent out by the school into the world an honest man with a determination to do right and make something of himself, and if the record is that he was a thief at the start he will find it more than an uphill fight in life. Many a man has been kept down to the earth by a past record that was easily brought to the surface. If this record is made in the manner indicated in this bill all boys will have an equal chance with all other boys to make a go of it when they reach manhood years, whether they stole pocket handkerchiefs or were simply in the habit of running the streets and keeping bad company. The bill is the result of much study by Senator Avery, who has had the aid of Police Judge Logan and Probate Judge White, both of Cleveland, as well as that of General Brinkerhoff, the Mansfield philanthropist. As the city of Cleveland has the authority to sell $100,000 worth of bonds to build such a school it is altogether likely that much good will come of the present measure when enacted into law. The Lancaster Reform school conducted by the state would be of far more value if boys were committed to it in the same way that it is now proposed in Cleveland. Boys are sent to Lancaster on a public record for stealing or for other petty crimes. Their lives are ruined for all time by that spot that can never be erased.

Standard Time.

It now looks very much as if standard time would remain as the legal time in Ohio. The senate the other day refused by a vote of 10 to 9 to repeal the law of last year. The vote was reconsidered, but the indications are that there will be a falling away instead of a gain in that vote on the second trial. A bill to repeal the same law is now in the hands of the house committee, but this will not be a falling away as it would have had if the senate had not already killed the same bill. The house will probably not feel like doing much toward considering their bill when it is certain that the senate will not pass it. The member from Cuyahoga, Mr. Taylor, the successor of Mr. Taylor, the author of last year's law, is the author of the house repeal bill, and it is understood that a feud between the two gentlemen is the cause of the present bill. If standard time survives the present attack it will probably never be dislodged. Many of those who were not in favor of standard time last year are not now in favor of repealing, as they say constant changing will make more trouble than will the getting used to the new order of things. All of the bills of the present session were in the habit of using standard time anyhow, and will naturally stand for the law as it now is, while those of the eastern part will vote against repeal to prevent another change.

Saturday Half Holidays.

A bill has been introduced in the house to provide for a Saturday half holiday. New York has had such a law for many years, and when it was enacted it was fought by many classes and interests, but it has worked so well since it has been tried that it would be an impossibility now to repeal it. Employers claim that they can get more work out of employees in five and one-half days a week than they can in six. A half holiday each week will allow employees to get off without taking other half holidays at their own expense or to their employers' annoyance. Nearly all of the cities and villages observe Saturday half holiday during the summer months, and find it works very well all around. If it works well in hot weather it ought to in cold.

Catarrh

In Its Worst Form

Life Almost a Burden

A Glorious Change Due Solely to Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Mrs. C. King, Geneva, Ohio.

Catarrh is a constitutional disease, and therefore it can only be cured by a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla. Read what it did for Mrs. King, concisely expressed in her own voluntary words:

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:—Gentlemen:—From a grateful heart I write you that your grand medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla, has done for me. Five bottles cured me of catarrh in its worst form. I think it was only a matter of time, when it would have ended in Bronchial Consumption. I can scarcely believe wherein a few months ago life was almost a burden, sick and discouraged, now I am well and happy, gaining flesh and a new being. And offering to Hood's Sarsaparilla. I will never be without it. Yours gratefully, MRS. CLARK KING, Geneva, Ohio.

passed the partial appropriation bill, carrying appropriations for a trial, over $1,100,000. This amount and sums already appropriated amount to about $1,000,000, or a little less than one-third of the estimated receipts for the coming year, which are put by the state and auditor at about $2,700,000. The partial bill is really a part of the general bill, and is only a sort of a bridge to last from Feb. 15 when the next appropriation year begins, until such time as the general bill is passed. The sum appropriated in the partial bill is subtracted from the amount that is decided upon for the full year and the balance is appropriated in the general bill. The needs of the state are estimated at about $1,200,000 more than the estimated receipts. Last year the appropriation bill amounted to about $100,000 more than the receipts of the state actually were for the year. The 'balances in the many funds of the many institutions and departments on the 15th of the next month will nearly equal this sum, so that the appropriations made and the receipts for the year nearly balanced, as near as it is possible to do in advance. The appropriations of the general assembly last year, that were not recommended by either the house or the senate finance committee, amounted to more than the actual deficiency for the year. The receipts last year were about $3,000,000 and the appropriations about $4,000,000. This year there will be no appropriation for the world's fair commission, and it is proposed to abandon the national guard encampment this year. These two items alone will save nearly $500,000 for other purposes. But when it is seen that the demands are $1,200,000 more than the receipts are likely to be the necessity of some deep cutting all the way round is very apparent.

Township Funds.

Representative Hart of Lake county had a bill passed by the house the other day that is likely to work great good to all the township funds in the state. His bill provides that the township clerk shall be counted at the regular meetings of the boards of trustees and a minute of the amount found, entered upon the records of the boards. This is to be prime facie evidence that the money was on hand. In addition to this the men will find it difficult to say that the predecessor of their man embezzled money or that their man under a different set of bondsmen did the act. As it now is it is often difficult to locate the real responsibility, and many committees are the sufferers. In addition to being able to locate the responsibility the law will have a good effect upon the treasurers themselves. They will be more apt to have their money ready to be counted if they know that such an operation is inevitable when they some times are now.

DR. KILMER'S SWAMP-ROOT

CURED ME.

Suffering from Various Prostration, Tortured by Kidney and Liver Complaint.

Mr. McCoy is a wealthy and influential citizen of Van Wert, and a man known for miles around. See what he says:—

"For years I had been a terrible sufferer from kidney and liver trouble, also nervous prostration and poor health in general. My appetite was poor, in fact, I had no desire to eat anything and consequently was thin, emaciated and all run down.

Life was a Burden

I tried physicians and every available remedy but found no relief. As a last resort I was induced to give your kidney remedy a trial and am pleased to say

Swamp-Root acted like magic, and to-day I am entirely cured and as good as a man as ever. It is without question the greatest remedy in the world. Any one in doubt as regards this statement can address:—
